[Evaluation of insulin resistance by the hyperinsulinemic euglycemic clamp technique and oral glucose tolerance test (OGTT) in dyslipidemic patients with type 2 diabetes mellitus]. To evaluate the relationship between homeostasis model assessment of insulin resistance (HOMA-IR) and the oral glucose tolerance test (OGTT), we compared HOMA-IR and the homeostatic model assessment of insulin sensitivity (HOMA-IS), with the "gold standard" hyperinsulinemic euglycemic clamp (h euglycemic clamp) and oral glucose tolerance test (OGTT) in type 2 diabetic patients. Seventy patients (mean age 55.2 +/- 8.7 years, average duration of diabetes 7.9 +/- 5.8 years) were divided into three groups: (i) 30 normal subjects without dyslipidemia, (ii) 20 patients with diabetes only, (iii) 30 patients with diabetes with dyslipidemia. In order to select the optimal method, we compared the results obtained with the h euglycemic clamp method, which is considered the "gold standard"
